Storyboard for Webpage Design

Storyboard

This is the basic design of all the pages that are on the website.

Webpages

1. Index Page- This page's purpose is to play the role of a home page. It basically introduces the user to the webpages and gives a synopsis of what to expect on the rest of the pages.
2. Professional Page- this page's intended purpose is to display my resume of my future self. It contains a mission and vision statement for users to understand the image I want of myself and my character.
3. Personality Page- this page contains information about my traits and hobbies and how I think they affect my academics. It also has a video of one of my favorite quotes and why I chose that person as a hero. It also has a personality test and the validity of the test.
4. Personal Development Page- this page offers a summary of Chapters 4-7 of Twelve Pillars by Jim Rohn and Chris Widener as well as the impacts it has on me after reading it.
5. References- this page contain all the references I used to get information to place on this website.
6. Storyboard- this has a picture of the compilation of each webpage.

Theme of the Website

Color Scheme and Overall Feel:

Background Color (Black) - I choose black as the background color as it gives the website a sleek and aesthetic yet simple look. It also goes hand in hand with the rest of text colors used throughout the website.

Navigation Bar (Chartreuse) – this was used in the navigation bar. I saw it as a color with vibrancy, creativity as well as moving away from the norm green. It also complimented the black background.

Headings and Paragraphs (Chocolate and Cornflower Blue) - these colors were used for the heading and paragraphs respectively and I saw them as visually pleasing to the eyes and they kept the simplistic look that I wanted to keep on the pages.

Socials (Purple)- this color was again used to add some vibrancy to the page.

Graphics

Target Audience

The target audience for this website is for any and everyone, to be more in depth it is for people who prefer simple yet effective as this website is not over the top but does and contains what it should. It was built to be visually appealing to not only me but the users as well as to learn more about the one who created it.

Features of the Website:

1. Images- the website consists of 3 images and those are the Resume, Profile Picture and the Twelve Pillars cover.
2. Video- the website contains a single video, and it was for the quote from my hero.
3. Hyperlinks- these are used to ensure that the images and videos are sourced properly and working.
4. Navigation Bar- this website provides the users with a navigation bar which seamlessly switches between each web page.
